EUROPEAN CAPITALS AND CITIES OF SPORT FEDERATION

PREAMBLE

“Sport is part of every man and woman's heritage and its absence can never be compensated for.”

Pierre de Coubertin

From a sociological, economic and organisational point of view, among many others, the benefits of sport for society are undeniable. Sport is an important driver of human values such as team spirit, tolerance, solidarity and loyalty.

On a myriad of occasions Europe's institutions have recognised the importance of sport for the European Union as a whole. In 2000, the Council of Europe acknowledged the importance of sport in European society and the value of addressing sport when designing common policies that apply to all the citizens of the European Union.

In its White Paper on Sport published in 2007, the European Commission tackles the main problems associated with sport. The Paper's objective is to provide strategic guidelines on the role of sport in Europe, encourage debate on specific problems related thereto and enhance the importance of sport to fuel solidarity among states of the European Union.

However, it was not until 2009, with the entry into force of the Treaty of Lisbon, that the European Union first acquired specific competences in sport-related matters. Article 165 of the Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union<sup>1</sup> (TFEU) refers to EU sports policy: “The Union shall contribute to the promotion of European sporting issues, while taking account of the specific nature of sport, its structures based on voluntary activity and its social and educational function”. Furthermore, article 6 of the TFEU refers to sport as a political area in which the European Union is competent to support, coordinate or supplement the actions of Member States.

The European Parliament is of the view that there is a growing need for the EU to deal with sports matters within a framework of full respect for the principle of subsidiarity. Parliament is aware that sport itself constitutes an important social phenomenon and a public good and is working on this topic together with the other EU Institutions. For this reason, through its permanent committees, it has drawn up a report on the European dimension in sport based on the communication “Developing the European dimension in sport”<sup>2</sup>, which follows the same structure as the White Paper, referring to the societal role of sport, the economic dimension of sport and the organisation of sport, among other matters.

In recent years, ACES Europe's activity, importance and influence have increased substantially. This phenomenon has raised ACES Europe's media profile and reinforced its public image, making it necessary for the institution to address its growing accountability vis-à-vis the public authorities, particularly in Europe, and society at large.

These regulations constitute ACES Europe's response to the demand to tailor its actions and public activities to an established set of rules that give the entity the credibility it deserves. Their aim is to strengthen the institution by providing a solid basis for action that will enable it to fulfil the purpose for which it was founded, this being none other than to promote physical exercise and sport at all levels of society.

This document, which establishes and explains how ACES Europe awards the World Capital of Sport distinction, is an indispensable part of ACES Europe's corporate governance structure. Furthermore, it aims to strengthen the procedures associated with the awards granted by ACES Europe.

ACES EUROPE

Since its inception in 1999, ACES Europe seeks to promote sport among all the citizens of the European Union, particularly disadvantaged groups, children, the elderly and the disabled, among others.

ACES Europe's goal is also to encourage private and public initiative in order to increase support for sport, not only from a professional point of view, but also as a channel for social cohesion and to improve the health and quality of life of citizens.

The goals that ACES Europe pursues for cities that are candidates for or that have been awarded the World Capital of Sport distinction are five-fold:

- Enjoyment in exercise.
- Willingness to achieve.
- Sense of community.
- Learning fair play.
- Improvement of health.

ACES Europe awards the European Capital of Sport title, an initiative that has received the recognition of the European Commission in the White Paper (Art. 50). In addition, ACES Europe is an official partner of the European Commission in the European Week of Sport. Both facts suppose the recognition of the work and activity of ACES Europe.

ACES Europe also has the endorsement of two important associations: The EGFA (Europarliamentary Group of Friends of ACES) and the GCE (Groupe Consultatif Européen). Both associations are a source of ongoing and steadfast support within the European Parliament, guaranteeing ACES Europe's visibility within the highest European institutions. Both associations are presided and composed over by Europarliamentary members.

ACES Europe's solid footing in the European institutional landscape and its firm belief in the legitimacy of its objectives spur ACES Europe and its members on to continue in their endeavour, namely the promotion of sport in society.

APPENDIX I: REQUIREMENTS FOR CANDIDATE CITIES DURING THE EVALUATION COMMITTEE VISIT

The Evaluation Committee's visit to the candidate municipalities is the medium through which the Committee members can gain an in-depth knowledge of a municipality's sports policy and sports programme. It is therefore essential for candidates to design a visit that will enable the Committee members to gain a global view of the candidature.

This Appendix provides guidelines for candidate municipalities regarding the content of the visit.

Duration of the visit: The visit to the World Capital of Sport candidate cities shall span four calendar days, from Thursday to Sunday, of which two full days, Friday and Saturday, shall be dedicated to visiting the city and to the presentation of the sports policy programme. Thursday and Sunday shall be reserved primarily for logistical matters relating to the arrival, departure and travel of the Committee members.

Content of the visit: The visit to the candidate cities must cover at least the following aspects:

- Visit to sporting installations. These visits are recommended so that Committee members can gain an in-depth view of the city's sports facilities. For each of the sports facilities visited, it is recommended that the organisation provide the Evaluation Committee members with a fact sheet containing details on the facility: physical characteristics, number of people using the facility each year, access to the facility by public transport, local, national or international sporting events hosted there, and other particulars. Site visits will be agreed jointly by the ACES Europe Board and the candidate city. ACES Europe Board will designate three sites to visit, while the remaining visits will be decided by the host city.
- Press conference. To give the project greater visibility, the visit should include a press conference during which the candidature and the associated project are publicised among the local media.
- Defense of candidature (DOC). This stage of the visit is aimed at allowing the persons heading the candidature to present to the members of the Committee the most salient aspects of the candidature, including the main sports facilities, associations with sporting entities or the sports policy programme for the coming years. During the DOC the previously prepared bid file will be presented addressing each of the eligibility criteria. The estimated duration of the presentation will be two hours, with sufficient time allowed for members of the Committee to ask whatever questions they consider necessary. It is advisable for the DOC to contain plenty of visual information such as videos and presentations that show off the city's attributes from the point of view of sport.

- Gala dinner. Official reception with representatives of the World Capital of Sport candidate city.
- Venue and time available for the voting process. At the end of the acts included in the visit, the candidate municipality shall allocate a time and place so that the Committee can deliberate and vote on the candidate city based on the ten eligibility criteria. The estimated duration of the voting process is 1.5 hours as maximum. Voting must be carried out following the visits to the installations and the DOC, so that the Committee members will be able to apply the necessary judgement when casting their votes.

APPENDIX II: VOTING PROCESS

The voting process represents the culmination of the candidature of a municipality that aspires to win the World Capital of Sport award. This process aims to be as objective as possible, and the Committee members may vote freely and in accordance with their professional judgement.

The vote is secret and the Committee members may not be apprised of the score given by other members, with the exception of the Secretary General of ACES Europe, who will be in charge of recording the scores. In no case recording of the voting process can be made.

The complete voting process shall be carried out as follows:

- Deliberations: A discussion will be held among the members of the Committee prior to the voting process during which the strengths and weaknesses of the candidature under evaluation will be highlighted. If the voting process relates to the second candidate municipality in a given year, Committee members who were present on both visits shall attempt to demonstrate the strengths and weaknesses of one candidature vis-à-vis the other.
- Voting process: Each Committee member will have the necessary time to cast a vote based on the ten eligibility criteria. At this point, there must be no interaction among the Committee members. As the votes are cast, the Secretary General of ACES Europe shall collect and take custody of the documents used by the Committee members to cast their votes.
- Deliberations following the voting process: Voting will conclude with a period of joint reflection during which each member will attempt to explain the aspects of the candidature to which they have given greater or less importance when casting their votes, and what aspects have been most or least critical for reaching a decision.

Scores will be recorded by the Secretary General of ACES Europe, who will keep an electronic record of Committee members and scores given by each of them. The final score will be the weighted average of the ratings assigned by the members of the Committee after eliminating the highest and lowest scores.

Only those candidates whose qualifying exceeds an 8 out of 10 overall rating could access the award. This score is considered the minimum to guarantee the quality of the candidates for World Capital of Sport.

Municipalities that wish to receive a comprehensive SWOT analysis of the score awarded by the ACES Europe evaluation committee need to request this before the visit takes place at an extra cost of 300€.
